Simply a better quality of life.

The desire for movement

Patients suffering from Dementia or Alzheimer disease are often restless. Their hands are always in motion. These patients button up and down their jacket. They are constantly kneading their hands or they flatten the tablecloth and they pluck their shirt sleeve. Often Dementia patients pluck their own skin which can lead to injuries.

Going on a discovery journey

Dementia Muff can help these patients. The sense of touch, which is not affected by the disease, will be stimulated.

A lot of little details and different materials will encourage the patient to play with the muff.

Kneading, feeling and touching – the restless hands can go on expeditions again and again.

- assigning colors
- recognition of shapes
- elements can be fixed by velcro
